DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter, which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 3 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The limitation, "said selection means makes display on said display section, selected display information other than said selected and displayed selected display information" fails to particularly point out exactly what is "selected display information other than selected display information." The language is confusing. Examiner will examine the claim according to the best interpretation.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Miyasaka et al (hereinafter Miyasaka), US Patent 6766362.

- In regards to claims 1 and 6, Miyasaka teaches an electronic apparatus and program generation comprising: a display section for displaying image

(Figure 4); a housing means for housing a plurality of types of constitutive elements utilized in generation of generated information for generating a program for display of image on said display section (Figure 5D), and for housing selected display information for selection of a constitutive element from said plurality of types of constitutive elements on said display section (Figure 5D); a selection means for selecting a constitutive element from said plurality of types of constitutive elements, according to said selected display information displayed on said display section (Figure 5D); and a generation means for generating said generated information based on a result of selection by said selection means and generating said program based on said generated information (Figure 7 brief description of drawings).

- In regards to claims 2 and 7, Miyasaka teaches, wherein said selection means selects and displays on said display section a plurality of selected display information from said plurality of selected display information housed in said housing means, if there is a plurality of selected display information housed in said housing means (Figures 8A-E).
- In regards to claims 3 and 8, Miyasaka teaches, wherein said selection means makes display on said display section, selected display information other than said selected and displayed selected display information (Figure 5D).
- In regards to claim 4, Miyasaka teaches, wherein said housing means houses a program generated by said generation means (column 3 lines 41-59).

- In regards to claims 5 and 9, Miyasaka teaches a electronic apparatus and program generation method comprising: a display section for displaying image (Figure 4); a housing means for housing a plurality of generation information for generating a program for display of image on said display section (column 3 lines 41-59), and for housing selected display information for selection of a piece of generation information from said plurality of generation information on said display section (column 9 lines 27-37); a selection means for selection of a piece of generation information from said plurality of generation information, according to said selected display information displayed on said display section (column 9 lines 27-37); and a generation means for generating said program based on a result of said selection (Figure 7).
